Guidelines For New Members

On any flying day, the order in which pupils fly is governed by the Flying List. When you arrive at the airfield, make sure your name is on this list. Try to arrive in time for the morning briefing (normally at 9:30 or 10:00) and introduce yourself to the Duty Instructor who is responsible for the running of the airfield and holds the briefing. If you arrive later when the Club is busy, you might not be able to fly that day.

Weather permitting, we normally fly 4 days a week during the summer; Tuesday, Thursday and weekends. Weekdays are less busy and you may find it easier to do more flying than at weekends.

You will be asked to do various jobs at the launch point, such as helping to push aircraft, holding wings, handling cables, or driving tractors as everyone helps everyone else to fly. Safety always comes first, so ask to have these jobs explained to you as there is often more to them than meets the eye.

When it's your turn to fly, you will normally have 2 consecutive flights after which you can add your name to the flying list again. When the Club is not busy you may get more flights at the discretion of your Instructor.

At the end of the day, log each flight overleaf. Your Instructor may wish to write some comments about the flights. If you become a Full Member, this will be the start of your Pilot's Log Book.

Your flights are recorded on the daily log, including the flying time and the fees and you must pay these on the day you fly. Write your temporary membership number on your cash envelope or the back of your cheque, and mark it 'Trial Membership'.

If in doubt, ask. Club members will gladly explain what needs to be done and how the system works.

Most of all, enjoy your flying, get hooked, and join the Club!
